I had the opportunity to work with Greg Norman and his team at RealityREI. Although, Greg is not a licensed agent, he has mastermind his profession as a highly experienced investor which his techniques, advice and FREE real estate investing tips lead me to my buyer purchasing a property for him. However, because his properties are not listed in the MRIS and his name is not on title at the time of contract, agents are skeptical if this is for real. My transaction was very real and very clean from start to finish. Once an offer was made and accepted, he made sure they stayed on top of the lawyers and the bank to insure a prompt closing. Greg's local knowledge in real estate property is unbelievable and I was very happy with his overall service. I look forward to working with him in the future to acquire leads I can use in my business or for properties that my clients can buy and/or sell. For this reason, I highly recommend other agents to take this opportunity in working with him for your real estate business.
